SRP Business Energy Manager

The screenshot shows the SRP Business Energy Manager website. At the top left is the SRP logo. A dark navigation bar contains the following menu items: REBATES ▾, WAYS TO REDUCE COSTS ▾, CONTRACTOR TOOLS ▾, and BUSINESS RESOURCES ▾. Below this is a blue header section with the title "Online Business Energy Manager". The main content area is white and features a text block: "Find out how much your business could save by taking SRP's quick online energy audit. You'll get an Energy Report with recommendations to save energy. Start now to learn about energy efficiency programs and rebates specific to your business." Below this is a sub-header "Get started by entering your business name" and a search input field with the placeholder text "Enter your business name". A note below the field states: "We use this to prefill information about your business, saving you time." A "CONTINUE →" button is positioned below the note. The bottom section consists of three white boxes with blue icons and text: 1. "Take your assessment" with a wrench and screwdriver icon, text: "Complete this quick survey to receive customized energy saving recommendations and information on efficiency programs." 2. "Review your potential savings" with a lightbulb icon, text: "Use our recommendations to decide where your business can save energy and money." 3. "Get your project started" with a gear icon, text: "Once you're ready to get started, SRP can help you get connected to a contractor to take part in an energy efficiency program." At the very bottom, a white box contains the text: "Improving your business' energy efficiency can have a big impact on productivity and your bottom line. Get started to find tips for managing energy use."
